Will Mexico colocate battery energy storage systems?
Future wind and solar energy projects in Mexico will be required to colocate battery energy storage systems equivalent to 30% of their capacity,a senior government official told the Senate on Tuesday.

Does Mexico have a 30% energy storage mandate?
A month after India introduced an energy storage mandate for renewable energy plants and China scrapped its own,Mexico has stepped forward with an ambitious 30% capacity requirement,alongside plans to add a further 574 MW of batteries by 2028.

How will Mexico's energy reforms affect the private sector?
Islas said that the energy reforms,which went into effect earlier in March,provide a series of mechanisms for the private sector to participate in the electricity market. The first option is for a private company to sell all the electricity produced by a renewable energy plant to Mexico's state-owned utility CFE.

How much energy will Mexico have by 2030?
In his address to the Senate,Islas also said a total of 21.8 GWof new generation capacity will be connected to the grid in Mexico by 2030,with clean energy sources accounting for around 80%.
